Life as an Entrepreneur

The Trigger: Why did you become an entrepreneur? What prompted you to take that first step? How did you develop the concept for your business?

As a former gamer (maybe you remember Counter-Strike...?) who then branched out into the real, physical world with surfing and longboarding—I felt compelled to find ways to conjugate virtual and real-world physical activities. Video games and surfing put together would be quite hard to do, but it was a sort of entrepreneurial spirit that helped close the gaps. In fact, this is where the inspiration for our logo came from, a tidal wave that carries our team to write the future of virtual reality.

Describe your greatest accomplishment/most rewarding moment of your career as an entrepreneur?

Meeting and discussing with Google and a US Naval Rear-Admiral, both of whom were quite impressed with our technology and contacted us afterward for further discussion.

Please describe your next challenge or plans for your business or for yourself as an entrepreneur:

Our next big challenge is to getting to the next seed round. We've already turned down one term sheet and are still currently on the lookout for the right partner match. In the period of 2016-17, we want to be more present in the United States.
